

Save Money in Cereals

The best and biggest bargain a housekeeper can buy is a Mother's Kit

Go to your grocer and ask him to show it to you. A complete assortment of different delicious cereals for every palate for every meal. Not only is it economy to buy your staple cereals in sufficient quantities at economical prices, just the same as it is cheaper to buy flour by the barrel and butter by the crock, but in every Mother's Kit there is in addition to the saving in cash a special Fireless Cooker Certificate, equal to 18 coupons, which when added to the coupons from the packages in the kit enables you to secure a wonderful fireless cooker by merely adding 89 cents.

A Mother's Kit consists of eighteen assorted packages of Mother's Cereals, packed in sanitary sealed packages, in which they are guaranteed to keep in perfect condition indefinitely.

- 8 Packages of Mother's Oats, standard size.
- 2 Packages of Mother's Yellow Corn Meal.
- 1 Package of Mother's White Corn Meal.
- 1 Package of Mother's Wheat Hearts.
- 1 Package of Mother's Corn Flakes (toasted).
- 1 Package of Mother's Old Fashioned Steel Cut Oatmeal.
- 2 Packages of Mother's Granulated Hominy.
- 2 Packages of Mother's Coarse Pearl Hominy.

This kit can be purchased at your grocer's by simply paying $1.95. The grocer himself will either redeem your coupons and deliver the $3.75 Fireless Cooker, or, if you so desire, send the coupons and 89 cents directly to us and we will ship the Cooker to you, express collect.

If your grocer does not keep Mother's Cereals, write to us, giving his name and yours, and we will send you free a useful souvenir.

How Girls Walk.
Between their short skirts and their smart pumps the feet of the average young woman are extremely conspicuous just now, and passing glances at them reveal the fact that most girls and women do not know how to walk properly. Ninety-nine out of a hundred of them place the heel on the ground first, a trick that is not only tiresome, but extremely ungraceful.

Weasels Attacked Cow.
Farmers on the farm of H. A. Seil, in Hanover, Pa., noticed a cow in a nearby meadow strangely jumping about and bellowing loudly. Upon investigation they were astonished to find that eight weasels had attacked her. After a hard fight the farmers succeeded in killing several of the bloodsuckers and scattering the remainder.

MADE BLUNDER DOUBLY BAD

Young Man's Effort to Retrieve Error Only Resulted in Getting Him in Deeper.

An amusing case was that of Sir Edward Thornton, once British ambassador to the United States, and Judge Poland of Vermont. At a wedding in Washington a young man went up to Judge Poland, greeted him and held out his hand.

"I fear," said the judge, "that you have the advantage of me."

"Is it possible," asked the young man, "that you don't remember seeing me with my father in Mexico?"

"I don't recollect ever being in Mexico."

"Why, surely you are Sir Edward Thornton?"

"By no means. I am Judge Poland of Vermont."

A week or so later the baffled young man caught sight of Judge Poland, as he thought, and determined to smooth over his recent blunder. "That was an awkward mistake of mine the other night," he said, "my taking you for Sir Edward Thornton."

"And, pray, for whom do you take me now?" was the query.

"Why, Judge Poland of Vermont, of course."

"My name is Thornton!" thundered the ambassador, turning on his heel.—Sunday Magazine of the Pittsburgh Dispatch.

BETWEEN LOVE AND DUTY

Hoboken Cook True to Father Though It Meant Losing Her.

Police Commissioner Baker of New York, anent a policeman who had made a particularly daring and successful arrest, said:

"He got his man by working out his claw with daring logic. He didn't let any timidity stand in his way. He didn't out of false delicacy, hesitate like the Hoboken cook."

"A Hoboken man whose hen roost had been robbed said to his cook:

"See here, Lily, sleeping as close to the henhouse as you do, didn't you hear those chicken thieves last night?"

"Lily hesitated. Then she stammered:

"Yes, sir. I certainly did hear them chickens hollerin', and I heard men's voices."

"Why, in thunder, then, didn't you do something?"

"Lily burst into tears.

"Oh," she sobbed, "I knowed my old poppy was out there in that hen coop, and I wouldn't have had him think I'd lost confidence in him for all the chickens in the world."

College for India's Girls

The new dormitory for the Lucknow College for Girls is to be erected as a memorial to Lilavati Singh, who at the time of her death was president of the college. Miss Singh was the only native teacher in the Lucknow college. As a student early in her career she refused a missionary scholarship because she preferred to earn her own education, though at the time she was supporting several younger relatives. In 1895 she won an A. M. degree with honors at the University of Allahabad. Four years later she came to America with Miss Thorburn, whose school in Lucknow she had entered when less than ten. Here she helped to raise upward of $20,000 for educational work among women of India. In 1907 she was sent to Japan as the Indian delegate at the Y. W. C. A. to the Students' Christian federation conference at Tokyo. The new dormitory is erected by money contributed by her friends, the bulk coming from America.

Sweet and Profitable

Forbes Robertson, the English actor, motored on a beautiful October afternoon through the suburbs of New York.

Mr. Forbes Robertson's host lamented the advertisements which concealed the landscape. A majestic rock was covered with a red and white pill proclamation. A pastoral valley was crowded with blue and green sign boards. Even the sparkling blue of the autumnal sky was sullied by toy balloons proclaiming the incomparable merit of a ten-cent tea.

"Sweet," said Mr. Forbes Robertson, embracing the scent with a wave of the hand—"sweet are the uses of advertisement."

Maidenly Modesty

Ren Wolf has the following "Modesty Note" in his entertaining column in the New York Morning Telegraph: Gertrude Hoffmann of Salome dance fame stood huddled up in a doorway opposite the Times building yesterday afternoon.

"What are you doing here?" inquired a friend.

"Why," replied Miss Hoffman, "I wanted to cross the street, but the wind blew my skirts up so high that I became ashamed and ran in here to escape."

Handicap of Cerberus

Pluto was bragging of his three-headed dog.

"But," they pointed out, "it would eat too much for arctic exploring."

Herewith he decided to stick to his own climate.

Mrs. Trout—Have you found any trace of poor dear Speckles?

Mr. Trout—No; I've read all the papers that fell overboard, but nobody has caught anything under five pounds.

AUDITOR JAMES

Will Refuse to Issue Warrants Unless the Court Tells Him He Must.

Until the Court of Appeals has passed on the right of the Legislature to employ additional help in the House and Senate, Frank P. James, State Auditor, will not issue warrants for the salaries of employees other than those provided for by the Constitution.

The fifteen offices created in the House and the eight or more in the Senate will be filled, but those who hold the places will have to sue for their salaries and the Auditor will refuse to pay them unless the courts tell him he must.

"I will not issue any warrants to any of them. If they want to serve and take the chances on getting their money, that is all right. I will not pay them, however, until I have a decision from the Court of Appeals. I do not believe that the two houses have the right to create all these additional places and I do not care to take the chance of being sued on my bond."

Japanese Cherry Trees Present-

ed Mrs. Taft.

The Emperor of Japan's remembrance of President Taft's great enjoyment of the cherry blossom festival season when in Japan has taken the graceful form of the presentation to Mrs. Taft of three car loads of young cherry trees, and they are now in Washington.

The greatest care has been taken

all the way from the land of the Mikado to keep the temperature on an even stage that the trees may not be harmed. Mrs. Taft, in appreciation of the opportunity for a cherry blossom season at the National Capital, has instructed delivery of the trees to the District Commissioners, and crews of them lining the Potomac boulevard will be a beautiful feature of that imposing thoroughfare.

Favors State Control Over Liquor

Traffic

Defying the published report that he intends to force the prohibition issue on the Democratic party, W. J. Bryan said in his Commoner:

"Mr. Bryan does not expect to see prohibition a paramount issue in national politics. If that ever comes it is not likely to be in Mr. Bryan's day. Mr. Bryan may, however, be truthfully credited with a desire to assist in securing for the several States absolute and exclusive control over the liquor traffic, including control over all shipments of liquor as soon as the liquor enters the State."

Creche for Rich Children.

A London journalist has suggested that a creche should be established for the children of fashionable mothers. Women who must needs play bridge from two p. m. until two a. m. would feel happier, he thinks, if they knew their little people were being carefully tended in a well conducted creche, instead of being left alone in the upper regions while the nurse disports herself in the servants' hall or goes out to an evening's entertainment. Amusement being the great aim of existence in these days, it is not to be supposed that nurses will be more devoted to the young of human species than mothers. Hence the need of a creche for the children of the rich.

Women as Bankrupts.

According to the latest reports concerning bankruptcies, 444 women failed in business this year, as against 439 for the previous year. There also has been an increase in the number of married women bankrupts and a decrease in the widows and spinster bankrupts.

The trade in which the greatest number of women failed was dress-making and millinery. Women grocers came next, while fancy goods and men's furnishing shops account for the third largest number of failures. The marked decrease in the magnitude of bankruptcies is due to speculative enterprise.—London Cable to the Washington Post.

Personal Reasons.

"I don't believe I shall run for office again," said the veteran politician.

"Why not?" asked the friend.

"My children are having too many schoolyard fights over the pictures and articles that get into print."

TREE TELLS OF A THRILLER.

Good "Business," But Not Really Adapted to the Requirements of Modern Stage.

Beerbohm Tree is always interesting and entertaining, epigrammatic in conversation and delightfully outspoken.

When Miss Constance Collier was playing Roma in "The Eternal City," Hall Caine was anxious to get a powerful effect in a certain scene she was taking with the late Robert Taber, and the former was himself in a vein of reminiscence.

"I once saw," said Mr. Caine, "a very striking bit of business. The man picked up the woman and threw her over his shoulder."

Miss Collier looked at him in consternation, for she would be rather a heavy person to throw about. However, they did their best, but their futile efforts were interrupted by Mr. Tree.

"That reminds me," said the actor-manager. "I saw a play in Italy once in which the hero caught hold of the heroine by the legs and banged her head on the floor."

"Splendid! A magnificent idea!" interrupted the enthusiastic author "What was the play?"

"Punch and Judy," replied Mr. Tree.

DIDN'T MEAN TO BE UNKIND

Comment on Lecturer's Personal Appearance, However, Was Somewhat Humiliating.

Strickland W. Gillilan, lecturer, newspaper humorist and author of that famous section hand classic, "Off Again, On Again, Gone Again, Finnigan," is not quite the perfect type of masculine beauty, and he tells a story on himself that illustrates the esteem in which he is held by those who witness him for the first time and afterward until they become accustomed to his looks.

On one occasion in a rural town where he was billed to lecture at night he was ambling along the main thoroughfare during the afternoon looking at things and seeking local color. A group of natives stood on the corner, viewing him curiously as he passed. He knew they were talking about him and modestly wondered what their estimate of him was. When he was well by the crowd he was informed, although not intentionally, for they were kindly Rubes.

"Huh," commented one in a critical tone. "I don't know what kind of a show he's got, but his street parade is rotten."

Types of Aeroplanes.

Each type of flyer at the great tournament at Rheims had a distinctive style of its own. With little practice one got to know each of them at a distance. One saw the great Antoinette engine poking its nose through the blue, and there was no mistaking its poise and certitude, however great the distance. Nor could one err in picking Blériot, tilting at a dizzy pace over the dips and hollows of the plain. Curtiss one knew from afar by the speed and the light springiness of his biplane, its head vanes stretched out in advance, cutting the air like the forebody of a wild fowl homing to its nightly rest. His was a sprightly engine of flight; it had an abrupt and startling quickness all its own, so that one never quite overcame the habit of gasping when the intrepid driver cut corners at every pylon. And if, by chance, there were one of the big Voisin biplanes touring on the line of view, the onlooker, at the contrast, gave even a deeper gasp. For these French biplanes, big and clumsy beyond all others, went trundling by with the stability and power of a Dreadnought.—Everybody's Magazine.

President Wants Separate Elections for the new States.

Representative Hamilton, of Michigan, Chairman of the House Committee on Territories, submitted to President Taft that a separate election should be held for the adoption of Constitutions at another time from that for the selection of State officers.

The President believes that by taking a separate vote on the Constitutions a much better instrument will be secured in each of the new States. The President approved Mr. Hamilton's bill and the latter hopes that statehood will be granted to the last two Territories at this session of Congress.

"Pistol-Toting" Bill.

Col. Jack Chinn, Representative in the Legislature from Mercer county, stated that he intended to introduce a bill which he believed would break up the "pistol toting" in the State.

"I have observed that about seven out of ten men, after having killed another, offer as a defense the plea of insanity, emotional or otherwise, and the public usually says about the other three out of ten, 'Why, he must have been crazy.'"

"Now, I'm going to propose that it be the law that every man caught with a concealed weapon be presumed to be insane, that he be taken before the County Judge and sentenced to not less than ten days in one of the asylums and that he be so confined that he will be compelled to listen day and night to theravings of the maddest of the mad. That will break them from carrying guns and knives quicker than any other way I know of. Going to jail won't stop them; it's too easy."

Wise Rats.

The depredation of rats in his chicken yard caused Harry A. Lehr of York, Pa., to spread rat poison beneath the floor of his chicken coop. Instead of eating the poison the rats removed it to different parts of the yard. The next morning it was eaten by the fowls, as a result of which Mr. Lehr's flock of chickens is largely decreased.

Costly Popularity.

France's cruiser Leon Gambetta is named after the famous politician, who died on December 31, 1882. In times of his intense popularity Gambetta had an experience which he was wont to tell against himself. In Paris admirers unyoked his horses and dragged the carriage to his house. Gambetta would narrate this with an air of pride, and he would add, with a smile: "But I never saw my horses again!"
